

The Labour Act for Managers & Union Leaders

A number of labour cases are ending up with the National Labour Commission or the Courts. Prevent such appearances by getting an understanding of Labour Act, 2003 (Act 651).

Gamey & Gamey & Pulse Institute Africa is running a 2-day workshop that will afford participants the opportunity to discuss the handling of a variety of labour issues. The facilitator will be a well known Labour Consultant.

Key areas that will be covered during the course include:

- The correct procedure to follow in a case when you have to dismiss or terminate an employee
- How to prepare for CONTRACT NEGOTIATIONS in accordance with the Act.
- STRIKE ACTIONS
- Understanding the role of the National Labour Commission and how to prepare for case hearing
- Handling underperforming employees
- What information you must, by law, provide to an employee/union, and what you can treat as confidential

“This course is structured to combine theory with actual examples and cases. This means that all participants will be able to gain information on issues relevant to their own working situation and environment.”

Date: 24-25 June, 2009 Time: 9am to 3pm. Fee: GHS 200 (Training, Certificate, Coffee Breaks, Lunch, Handouts)

Venue: Centre for Conflict Resolution (CENCOR), Accra (Near Shell Filling Station on Achimota Road).

To Register Contact Gamey & Gamey or Pulse Institute Africa Limited: 022-303432/024-4431924/024-4314193

www.pulseafrica.net